The French Benevolent Society --Its Early History and Present Operations.

The Marine Hospital on the Indian Reserve--How it is Supported.

Of all the national benevolent societies in connection with the city of Victoria that of

stands nobly out in the cause of humanity as regards the care of their sick brethren. This society was organized 24th of February, 1860, by men of various continental nationalities, principally French, Swiss, Italian and German. The prefix name "French" to the title may be called, and has always been considered, a misnomer. Immediately on organization this society purchased the site and erected the present pretty little premises on Collinson street for a hospital, where the sick members of the organization would be received free of charge, having all the comforts of a home, medical attendance, &c., during their illness. To others the doors of the institution are open on payment. This cottage hospital is prettily situated amidst a bower of shade trees; the small grounds are neatly kept, and roses, honeysuckle and other flowers are cultivated, imparting to the place a rustic, home-like appearance. When this little hospital was first estabblished, the situation was chosen because it was then out in the country, where perfect quiet, plenty of pure air could be had ad libitum. There is accommodation provided for twelve patients, and there is one occupant at present. Dr. Milne is the attendant medical officer, while Mr. Peterson as steward looks after the interior arrangements. The place seems to be well cared for in every respect. This institution is under the sole management of the society, and religion or sectarianism does not interfere to prevent the harmonious workings of man's humanity to his fellow man. The institution is entirely supported by charitable contributions from the members of the society, without any outside aid. In the good old days the "French" Hospital did its share of yeoman's service in the alleviation of human misery, and owing to other institutions of a similar kind being on a more extended scale and other causes, it may be suggested that it were better could the society amalgamate their hospital with the Jubilee Hospital, pay for a ward, or number of beds, &c. Mr. John Wenger, the secretary-treasurer, to whom we are indebted for the information concerning the workings of the institution, seemed to favor the idea, and if ever the Jubilee Hospital obtains a growth more than a name, as at present, this hint might be found worthy of consideration.

Having "walked" all the hospitals in the east, the man of THE TIMES went towards the setting sun in search of more. Through slums, stench, and tumble down mess crown shanties, thinking all the while that there must be great need of hospitals where such fever-breeding dens are permitted, he proceeded to

THE MARINE HOSPITAL.

This institution was built in 1874 by the Dominion Government for the reception of sick seamen especially. The building occupies about one and a half acres of ground, built of solid bricks, stone foundation, and is 35 feet by 90 feet, two stories high. In the interior the arrangements are well suited for hospital purposes, the wards lofty and well ventilated, with every convenience for the comfort of the sick. There are "beds" for some forty patients. The average number is somewhere about ten. There are only four inmates at present, who spoke highly of their treatment and were loud in their praise of their institution. Dr. Davie is the attending medical officer, while Mr. Wood has looked after the management of the institution for the past fifteen years. This gentleman receives $500 per annum for the services of himself and wife, an allowance of $5 per week for board of each patient, fuel, light, quarters and $50 per annum for soap, washing and brooms. The Department of Marine and Fisheries has the Marine hospital under their paternal care, and as a building its arrangements, management, &c., is a credit to the department, and to Capt. Lewis, its representative in Victoria.

It is true, a little more attention might be given to the grounds. The few shade trees planted seemed to be sadly in want of irrigation; the solitary flower bed, overgrown with weeds, ditto. It may be said that there's nobody in it. Well, as a public institution, and a Dominion one at that, the grounds ought to be kept in better order. The neat two story cottage of the steward is all right; anything further shows the neglect that should not be seen about any public building. The water for use is obtained from large tanks, which store the rain water from off the building. The other sanitary arrangements appear very good—only the "dead house" should have been built a little further out from the main building and not up to the very kitchen door. The supply of books in the "lay ward" are very much dilapidated, and visits of humanity rather scarce. Mayhap the notice board of the E. & N Railway may have something to do with the scarcity of visitors. The situation for a hospital stands unrivalled.

This paper concludes the charitable institutions of the city as regards the sick, the orphan and the fallen. In to-morrow's issue will be given, as a conclusion, a short paper on that excellent society "The British Columbia Benevolent Society."

THE JUBILEE HOSPITAL.

To THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES:

SIR:—I have as you know refrained so far from any newspaper discussion of the public hospital site, but since the recent developments, consisting mainly of Mr. Chudley's letters and the Rev. Mr. McLeod's rejoinder, I wish tersely to state my views. The Cadboro Bay site is obnoxious because:

1. It is too far away to give relief for those suffering from accidents or fits in the city.

2. It is too far away to give relief to the sick or crippled poor, who cannot walk or drive out to Cadboro Bay.

The promoters of the Cadboro Bay site state that a casual ward and dispensary would be opened in the city to obviate the two above mentioned objections, but when it is proposed to spend the whole capital on the building and run it $20,000 in debt besides, requiring an annual outlay of $1400 for interest alone, where is the money to come from to keep up the "Country Home for Convalescents" when built, and the city casual ward and dispensary besides, the latter institution alone requiring $4000 a year?

No doubt if the public support the hospital, it is enough for all purposes, but nine out of ten citizens are against the Cadboro Bay site and object to the bulldozing manner in which the promoters have tried to force an obnoxious site on the majority of the subscribers. It is notorious that the people are against this site and why persist in cramming it down their throats. What use is it to go on building to be laughed at for your folly? I say if no other site can be got, the Royal Hospital has ground enough for a magnificent hospital, large enough for all the needs of the people for many years. Hospitals do not require parterres, pleasances and lawns to be useful and efficient. Why is not the Royal Hospital site made use of?

COLLISION AT SEA.

City of Chester Sunk--The Well Known Steamer Goes Down Near Golden Gate.

Eighteen Drowned--Fifteen Passengers and Three of the Crew --Passengers Names.

San Francisco, Aug. 22—The steamer Oceanic, from China and Japan, collided with and sunk the steamer City of Chester this morning at the entrance to the Golden Gate. The City of Chester had just sailed with over 70 passengers for Eureka, Cal. The Oceanic has her boats lowered and is saving lives. A number are known to be lost.

The City of Chester was commanded by Captain Wallace. She left her berth at 9 o'clock this morning. She neared the Presido reservation, which is just inside of Golden Gate Straits. The atmosphere became very thick and objects were scarcely distinguishable at close range. A few minutes before 10 o'clock a huge vessel was noticed directly in front of the Chester, bearing right down upon her. Before any attempt on the part of the Chester's officers could be made to change the course and avert a disaster a terrific crash was heard, and she began to sink. Immediately there was a panic on board and many of her passengers leaped into the water making for the shore. The vessel which had given the Chester her death blow was the Oceanic from the Orient with 80 cabin passengers and a thousand Chinese. Boats were speedily lowered from her and the work of rescue commenced. Almost immediately the body of a dead man was picked up and it was found to be the steward of the unlucky Chester. A large number, who were floating about in the water on wreckage and life preservers were rescued by the boats and tugs, and the bay steamer, San Rafael, which had come to the Chester's assistance, and taken aboard the Oceanic. The Chester rapidly filled after she had been struck, and was under water within four or five minutes. When the work of rescue had been about completed and the roll called for those saved, it was found that fifteen passengers and three of the crew had been drowned. Capt. Thomas Wallace, of the Chester, when seen by a Postal press reporter about noon, made the following rough statement: "We were making our way out against a strong flood tide, when I heard a whistle ahead, and from the direction from which sound came I thought we were all right, but next instant I saw the dark hull of the Oceanic above me as she crashed into our port side near the forehatch. The fog was so thick we could see nothing and the disaster happened quicker by a good deal than I can tell it. The water must be forty fathoms deep at that point and we went down rapidly. The confusion was great, but the men did the best they could. They got out the boats and passengers as quickly as possible and were transferred to the Oceanic. I was thrown into water and had to scramble out from the wreckage. It was reported when we started for the shore that fifteen or sixteen had been drowned. One poor fellow was crushed to death between the two vessels. The Oceanic was a long time in getting her boats in the water. I understand that her Chinese crew of 90 were afraid to man them, fearing that when our steamer sank they would be drawn down and engulfed. Among those who were on board when she sank were Capt. Thomas Wallace, first mate C. McCallum, second mate J. Lundes, third mate S. N. Sunkgreen, purser O G Debeny, chief engineer F. C. Coleson, first assistant engineer W. Bowey, second assistant engineer R. Comstock. There was also a crew of 37 but a good many of them jumped on board the Oceanic directly she struck the Chester. The Chester was valued at $150,000, and insured in various companies for $75,000. She was an iron vessel of 785 tons burden. The name of only one of the lost was known, that of Edward Chambers, the Chester's steward.

At 2:30 p. m. the following were known to be drowned: G W Anderson, M. B. Meach, Miss Pratger, Mrs. C. Haney, J. C. Hampton and wife, Mrs. Porter and three of the crew.

The City of Chester was built in Chester, Pennsylvania, in 1874. She was an iron screw steamer of 785 tons and was owned by the Oregon Steamship Company. The wrecked steamer ran between San Francisco and Victoria in 1879 and usually docked at Welch, Rithet & Co.'s inner wharf. The Oceanic is an iron screw steamer and was built in Belfast, Ireland. She is owned by the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company.

THE P. O. CLERKS' SALARIES.

Stoppage of the Allowance Due to Our Representatives.

(Special to THE TIMES.)

Ottawa, Aug. 22—The Postmaster-General will not interfere with the reduction of the salaries of the postoffice employees at Victoria. The reduced amounts will be paid for August the same as for July. Postmaster-General Haggart holds the same views as ex-Postmaster McLellan, and the stoppage of the government allowance is entirely due to the British Columbia representatives in Parliament. Haggart will recommend that a sum be put on the estimates next session if your representatives, who should have opposed its being struck out, desire so. M.P.

Bonney will be tried to-morrow under the Speedy Trial's Act for bringing stolen property into Canada and pointing a pistol at a police officer.

DEFEAT OF THE TREATY.

Washington, Aug. 21—The chief event of to-day's Senate proceedings was the rejection of the Fisheries treaty. Mr. Morgan took the floor and closed the debate upon the treaty. He concluded his speech with an eloquent peroration upon the prospects of trouble with Great Britain after the treaty was rejected, and his finishing remarks were a prophesy that when the exigency of a war occurred, the party which caused it would find the party which advocated the treaty just as true to the flag and just as ready to shed its blood for the country as they. The first vote was taken upon a motion of Gibson to recommit the treaty to the committee on foreign relations with instructions to frame and report amendments to the treaty to prevent ambiguity in construction put upon the article of the treaty, or to report a measure of arbitration. This vote was lost by a vote of 31 nays to 29 yeas. The treaty was then read by sections. The vote was then taken on the amendment to the 11th article of the treaty offered by Gray, providing that in all cases facilities shall be accorded to the United States fishing vessels in Canadian ports for the purchase of needful provisions and supplies. Ejected, yeas 28, nays 30. No other amendments were offered and the vote was then taken on the formal resolution of ratification and was defeated, yeas 27, nays 30. It was a strict party vote, which in detail was as follows: Yeas — Messrs. Bate, Beck, Berry, Blackburne, Blodgett, Brown, Cockrell, Coke, Colquitt, Daniel, Faulkner, George, Gray, Hampton, Harris, Jones, Ofark, McPherson, Morgan, Pascoe, Payne, Pugh, Sansom, Regan, Vest, Waltham, and Wilson, of Maryland—27.

Nays—Aldrich, Allison, Blair, Chase, Chandler, Dawes, Dolph, Edmunds, Evarts, Farwell, Frye, Gorman, Hale, Hawley, Hiscock, Hoar, Ingalls, Jones, Mauderson, Mitchell, Plumb, Quay, Sabin, Sawyer, Sherman, Spooner, Stewart, Stockbridge, Teller, and Wilson, of Iowa —30.

Morgan moved that the President be notified of the action of the Senate, and it was so ordered.

Nutting said that in case of trouble with England the greatest danger to the United States would be on her northern frontier, at Kingston, almost within a cannon shot of the shores of the United States. Canada is a dependency to England and was building a dry dock for the construction of war vessels. Farquhar declared that the State of New York, independent of any other State, would take a contract to take care of Canada and her five millions inside of a few days. A country, he said, which has passed through a war and which possessed millions of veterans who had worn blue and grey, asked no odds from Canada or her parent government.

Bad Land Policy--Saw Mill for Alberni--Ejectment.

The steamer Hope returned from Alberni last evening. Her passengers were the Rev Mr Dunn, Mrs G A Smith, Mrs Pinkerton, Mr and Mrs Serault, Mr Hansen.

On the way to Victoria the Hope's propellor became loosened on the shaft and she was beached at Bamfield Creek, Barclay Sound, to have it fastened.

Parties who came around report the people as good and Alberni prosperous generally. No settlers, however, are going in as a result of the land policy of the railway company. The only condition offered to settlers to purchase a homestead at the rate of $3 per acre, and this many would be settlers are unable to do.

Mr. McVey, a gentleman who was round looking for a site on which to erect a large saw mill is well pleased with the situation and Alberni is hopeful of having a mill at no distant day with a capacity of 100,000 per day.

THE SCHOOL TAX.

The fact that the Colonist has studiously refrained from referring to the resolution passed by the City Council in respect to the obnoxious and arbitrary school tax, while the new government proselyte has attacked the Council and defended the government is the latest illustration of the saying, that "fools rush in where angels fear to tread." Of course we do not mean to imply that our evening contemporary is a "fool," nor yet would we wish to misrepresent the morning organ by classing its managing editor with the "angels." The impression, however, is apropos to the situation, and even at the risk of offending both advocates of the iniquitous system of class legislation, we will allow the comparison to stand. The morning organ has a too intimate knowledge of public sentiment in Victoria to commit itself to the preposterous declaration that a refusal to submit to arbitrary enactments is disloyalty to the government. Proselytes are always over-zealous in the new cause, and like the beggar mounted for the first time, they are prone to ride rough-shod over everything in their path. A tax for public school purposes upon the cities of Victoria, New Westminster, Vancouver and Nanaimo, which is not at the same time imposed upon the other municipalities and districts of the province is one-sided, unjust and we believe illegal. Holding that opinion, the City Council of Victoria would have been recreant in its duty to the people had it failed to protest against the law. The government has been defied, it is true, but what of that? The "king can do no wrong" is an accepted maxim in constitutional government that does not apply to a British Columbia government composed of such men as Robson, Turner, Dunsmuir and Vernon. It is not treason to rebel against tyranny, for, as JUNIUS says, "the subject who is truly loyal to the Chief Magistrate will neither advise nor submit to arbitrary measures." We expected to find the press of the city united in sustaining the resolution submitted to the council by Ald. Powell. It appears, however, that we were in error. The Standard, purchased by the government to advocate its cause, has seized upon this question—the first opportunity that has presented itself—to pay the first instalment of the obligation it incurred when it bartered its independence for the paltry patronage of those in power.

LIBERALISM IN VICTORIA.

Dr. MILNE, President of the Liberal Association of this city, heard the speeches of Hon. Mr. LAURIER and Sir. R. CARTWRIGHT at Oakville, Ont., on Monday, 13th inst., and will no doubt return home more confirmed in the faith than ever before. There are few if any public speakers in Canada more earnest, logical, or convincing in argument than these two leaders of the great Liberal party; and accustomed as the doctor has been to hear only the government side of the question, and to live in an atmosphere of antagonism to the party which, unfortunately for the progress of liberal principles, antagonized the people of British Columbia on the railway question, he will have received fresh inspiration from the fountain head, and hereafter will be imbued with a clearer conception of the great aims and patriotic objects of the party of which he is a respected member. Dr. MILNE has been reporting to the press of Toronto that the Liberal cause is steadily growing and strengthening in this province. He dates the active revival of Liberalism from Mr. CHARLTON'S visit to Victoria two years ago, and to the able and thoughtful addresses then delivered by the member for North Norfolk. He says that Mr. CHARLTON left a most favorable impression on the people, and that the good effect of his visit was increased and emphasized by the visit and speeches of Mr. WILLIAM PATERSON, M. P., and Mr. JAS. TROW, M. P., a year ago. We quote from the Globe:

The Doctor says that most of the English of his province are Conservatives, but that many of the young Canadians going in are Liberals, that most of the Americans are reasonably independent, but many of them are not citizens, and that the young men of the province are inclined to develop their own opinions on public questions. They are rather disposed to be governed by their own judgment than to go unquestioned on the lines of old prejudices or to accept unreservedly the opinions of their fathers. He says that Imperial Federation is used in his province simply as a counter agitation to that for Unrestricted Reciprocity, and he insists that the Liberal policy is bound to win many adherents in British Columbia. He points out that when Vancouver was a Crown Colony and had free trade with the States, that Victoria was one of the most prosperous cities on the continent, and that progress has been much less rapid under the changed economical conditions. Now, he says, the province has to import from Ontario, Manitoba or San Francisco, and that the natural exchange is with San Francisco, which is the best market for coal, lumber and other products. As an evidence of the extent of the exports of coal and lumber, he mentions that it is not uncommon to have ten or twelve coal and lumber vessels loading in the harbor at Victoria. In the face of these facts it needs no argument to prove how greatly free trade with the neighboring States would benefit the Pacific province. He thinks himself fortunate in having met the Liberal leaders, and they probably have much greater reason to be gratified that they were enabled to meet with one so well qualified to expose to them the position of affairs in British Columbia."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Republican party of the United States are for taxing the necessaries of life, and yet it is only a trifle over a hundred years ago that the United States became a nation because of a refusal to pay taxes on one of the necessaries of life.

A good deal of controversy has been going on about the inhumanity of applying the lash to certain classes of criminals—those low brutes who commit assaults on helpless women and little children. Some good people have had their feelings shocked by the proposition, but the wisest conclusion seems to be to retain the lash and lay it on firmly but dispassionately on all who make vile assaults. When these crimes cease it will be time enough to discontinue the use of the cat-o'-nine tails.

The great political battle now going on in the United States is nominally for the Presidential chair. Actually it is a fiscal fight between Protection and an amended tariff looking a little toward Free Trade. If all appearances are not deceptive, fiscal questions will be the main issue at the next Dominion election in Canada. The questions are not by any means new, but they are as far from being settled as they ever were. It might simplify matters a little to acknowledge that there are some problems in politics and theology which can never be solved, or at least are not likely to be in our day.

The English press devotes a great deal of space to comment on General Boulanger's politicial victories, thus indicating the gravity with which that turbulent character's return to prominence is regarded. The Times calls attention to the fact that all three of the seats to which Boulanger has been elected were vacated by conservatives, and expresses the opinion that, therefore, any candidate put forward who was an opponent of the government could be elected. This fact the Times believes insures the return of anti-ministerialists to the two seats remaining unfilled, after Boulanger has made his choice of the constituency he will represent. The peace of the republic has doubtless been endangered by Boulanger being brought visibly before the minds of the volatile Frenchmen, but it is hoped that the good sense of the people may come to the country's rescue. The Standard says that Boulanger's success may weaken the republic but cannot destroy it. The Daily News thinks the return of the ex-minister of war may be after all a disguised blessing to the ministry, in that way it may have the effect to check the waywardness, which is the worst of the vices of the chamber of deputies, and spur the ministers on to better attention to the wants of the country. The Pall Mall Gazette appeals to the ministers not to lose their heads in the present emergency, but admits that they cannot fail to see the handwriting on the wall in the increased majorities polled against the government. The Echo says Boulanger is an instrument in the hands of the Bonapartists, who seek to build the empire upon the ruins of the republic. His election is a serious blow to liberalism throughout Europe. The Star says that great though inarticulate rumors of political and social discontent shape themselves in Boulangerism and its follies.

A Chinese Baby.

No sooner is a Chinese boy born into the world than his father proceeds to write down eight characters or words, each set of two representing respectively the exact hour, day, month, and year of his birth. These are handed by the father to a fortune-teller, whose business it is to draw up from them a certain book of fate, generally spoken of as the boy's pat-tez, or "eight characters." Herein the fortuneteller describes the good and evil which the boy is likely to meet with in after life, and the means to be adopted in order to secure the one and to avoid the other. In order to understand something of the value of this document, we must glance at the Chinese method of reckoning time. There are only twelve Chinese hours in our twenty-four. Beginning with 11 p. m., to 1 a. m., which is their first hour, the names are rat, ox, tiger, rabbit, dragon, snake, horse, sheep, monkey, cuck, dog and pig. As everybody is supposed to partake more or less of the nature of the animal at whose hour he is born it appears obvious that e.g., it would never do to send a rabbit boy to the school of a tiger schoolmaster. Hence the importance of consulting the pat-tez of both parties before entering upon any kind of agreement. It is a fact that it is thus referred to on every important occasion. The pat-tez having received the first attention, the father prostrates himself before the ancestral tablets, and there offers up thanksgiving for the birth of his boy. In every house in China a room, or amongst the poor a niche in the wall of their common room, is set apart for the worship of ancestors. The names of those of the four past generations are painted on wooden tablets, before which night and morning, as well as on other special occasions, joss-sticks and burned in honor of the departed. The father next visits the temple of the goddess called "mother." She is supposed to look after the welfare of the children until they arrive at the age of sixteen. Here incense and oblations of fruit, &c., are offered, and the goddess is requested to look with favor upon the precious boy.—The Cricket.

CHIEF JUSTICE JONES.

The Remains will be Laid Beside His Wife in Rochester.

The report of the death of Chief Justice Richard A. Jones, of the Supreme Court of Washington Territory, has plunged Washington Territory in an universal expression of grief and sorrow. The deathbed scene was heart-rending in the extreme. He leaves four children, M. K. Jones, the acting Superintendent of the Seattle, Lake Shore & Eastern Railway, R. S. Jones, of Rochester, Minn., and Misses Isabella and Edith, two of the most prominent and popular young ladies in the city. He was a widower, his wife having died many years since.

Chief Justice Jones was born in Indiana, October 22, 1831, of parents in medium circumstances in life. His early education was obtained under the greatest difficulties. But ambitious and energetic he even in childhood began to lay the foundation which in after years made him so famous both as an advocate and a public spirited citizen. In 1850, during the great gold excitement, he emigrated to California, remaining there but a few years, when he moved to Minnesota, where he engaged in the practice of the law, rising from an obscure attorney to the fore-front of the legal fraternity of the State. From Rochester, Minnesota, he removed to Portland, Oregon, in the the fall of 1886, where he soon became recognized as one of the brightest lights in the State. On April 5, 1887, he was notified of his appointment of Chief Justice of Washington Territory, to which he immediately removed his family and settled in Seattle. The remains were escorted to Tacoma by members of the Seattle Bar. The body will be laid alongside the remains of his wife at Rochester, Minnesota.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

New Court House—Burns'-Block Ald. Kelly's Bonuses, &c.

Wishing to hear the Victoria "Bunsfuzes," "Phunkeys," "Dodson and Fog's," and other big wigs and limbs of the law in the celebrated case of the "Professor" and his Colonist backers, the Major strolled down Langley street. He recollected reading in THE TIMES, about a month or so ago, that this Temple of Justice would be open in a few weeks for business. Well, seeing the debris still around and other tokens of "still being in the hands of the contractors," as we may say about James Bay bridge, he thought he'd have a look round instead of going to court. So he did, and he's not a bit pleased. Give the poor building a show to look as well as it can anyway, clean up around it, have the sidewalks seen to, let the asphalt be put down at once by the province or city, it doesn't matter, only let it be done. Strangers from the east are coming on those excursions, and the Major would like everything to look ship-shape. Even this pile of bricks will look well for a time, if we only give it a chance. Now, Mr. Lowe, are you any of the "Gores" of Woodfood? If so, you ought to be a rustler and a decent boy to boot. You just make that contractor get a move on; he has been there long enough. If you don't you'll have the "devil's own" time with the judges and the Major shouting out.

A walk through the Barnes block was found very interesting, and these well-ventilated, spacious chambers and offices will soon be having a busy time, when the courts are open. The Barnes block is a credit to Victoria, and a pleasant place to live in as it commands some of the finest views in the city.

Now, Alderman Kelly, you just put the question straight to your brother Aldermen to-night. Let us see how many "moss-backs" there are and whether they are citizens or Aldermen. Your propositions regarding the several bonuses are not premature, and even if received well by your council, such will tell the outside world that Victoria is awake, and not the sleepy, happy-go-lucky place she always was before. The legality of the Seymour Narrows bonus ought to be made legal, your city chartar should be amended so as to empower you to aid enterprise either within your bonds or outside, provided such would benefit Victoria. Other cities on the mainland are watching you with a jealous eye. You must, therefore, keep your weather eye open, and with a few more Aldermen Kelly's and go-ahead citizens to back them up, Victoria would soon become not only the centre of trade and commerce, but also the centre of the western system of railways.

The Major found himself yesterday admiring that triumph of engineering skill, the draw-bridge of the N. & E. Railway! A notice board cautioned him not go to an inch beyond the abutment, and all the terrors of the law were threatened should he walk on the "trestle" or "track." There was nothing left for it but the alternative, to either turn back or make a jump. He heard of people jumping through an act of Parliament, but in this instance, not being personally in jumping order, nor yet having any desire to break his neck, he simply walked the dozen of yards or so of forbidden ground belonging to the most high and mighty, potent prince, his Grace of Wellington, Nanaimo and elsewhere. The notice board here referred to seems entirely out of place and misleading. The police authorities ought to see to its removal, seeing it has a tendency to incite weak-minded people, who are in moral dread of the great "high and mighty" to commit suicide with the drawer open in the rear and the tenors of the law in front, there's no alternative for the admirers of nature but to jump for it into the seething waters beneath. What is the meaning of it anyway?

AYER'S Hair Vigor has given me nearly bald for six years, during which time I used many hair preparations, but without success. Chapel, Peabody, Mass.

HAIR that has become weak, gray, and faded, may have new life and color restored to it by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "My hair was thin, faded, and dry, and fell out in large quantities. VIGOR, youth, and beauty, in the appearance of the hair, may be preserved for an indefinite period by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. "A disease of the scalp caused my hair to become harsh and dry, and to fall out freely. Nothing I tried seemed to do me any good until I commenced using Ayer's Hair Vigor. Three bottles of this preparation restored my hair to a healthy condition, and it is now soft and pliant. My scalp is cured, and it is also free from dandruff.—Mrs. E. R. Foss, Milwaukee, Wis.

THE IMPERIAL FEDERATION LEAGUE.

To the Editor of The Times:

Dear Sir,—Why has our Tory ex-naval lieutenant dropped this matter? He gave us a real treat a little while ago in rather an unforeseen manner, when Judge Gray and Rev. Mr. McLeod spoke so well, that every one in town who thought it was a waste of time to attend the meeting, were more than sorry afterwards they had not gone. I can tell the Lieutenant that if he will give us such a treat once a month, he will be considered a public benefactor. We want something of the kind in Victoria to amuse us and to keep up our interest in the Empire, and I am sure if the Victoria branch of the league had interested the Canadian headquarters in the matter of the Behring Sea seizures, such influence would be brought to bear on the league people in England, that deputation after deputation would have called on the Admiralty and the Foreign Office to get that "faint boom of the British guns" which no power on earth wants to hear, except at a safe distance. Mr. Baker is quite correct in stating the Victoria league should join the Canadian league. Canada is the most influential part of the Empire, outside of the United Kingdom, and what the Canadian branch of the league wants, would scarcely be refused by the chiefs of the league in London, but I doubt if the Victoria league alone could move them to do anything in such an important matter as the Behring Sea seizures. This Imperial Federation League is a sort of United Empire Club in reality. Its only real worth is in enabling patriotic people to join together to devise ways and means to uphold the power of the flag, and to cause all British born subjects to feel they are only one nation, anywhere they may settle, and that the poorest and meanest may not suffer injustice from the most powerful of foreign governments, without sure redress for his wrongs. Yours respectfully, U. E. L.

British Justice.

Justice is impartially administered in Great Britain. Wealth or station or influential connections do not screen the guilty man from the punishment that his crime deserves. Juries in Great Britain may make mistakes through ignorance or stupidity or prejudice, but they are never bought. The law there may be at times somewhat slow in its action, but the guilty are pretty sure, sooner or later, to get their deserts. The punishment of two bankers, George and Kleynge Greenway, show how dangerous it is in England for men of position and large local influence to depart from the paths of honesty. These men carried on their business in Warwick, and were held in high esteem by people of all classes. But they did their business recklessly and abused the trust reposed in them. These two brothers were tried under the Fraudulent Trustees Act for having appropriated to their own use money entrusted to them under a marriage settlement. But they escaped conviction through a technicality. Then George was indicted for having stolen securities that were deposited with him for safe keeping and Kelynge for having misappropriated to his own use a bill of exchange for £1200 paid into the bank by a customer. They were tried and found guilty. George was sentenced to five years penal servitude, and Kelynge to imprisonment with hard labor for one year. The judge drew a distinction between the criminality of the two men. George Greenway was the solicitor of the trust which he robbed, and therefore, as he considered, under a weightier obligation of integrity. The imprisonment is the lightest part of the punishment inflicted on these brothers. They were men of high social position. They enjoyed the confidence and esteem of the whole community in which they lived. They have lost all this and the disgrace and degradation will be felt more severely, will last for longer and will extend more widely than the direct consequences of the judgment of the court.

While the Atlantic express was passing through the canyons above Yale Friday morning, a startling incident occurred. A Chinese laborer was on the train, proceeding to another section of the road to work. When nearing Keefer's he saw the section gang with whom he was to work at the side of the track, and thinking to save himself a walk, he jumped from the platform of the car on which he was standing. Instead of jumping with the train he leaped towards its end, and before his feet touched the ground he had been hurled over the embankment, about 600 feet from the rushing waters below. He at first rolled over and over, and the last that was seen of him by those who witnessed the occurrence was when he slid over a ledge and was undoubtedly dashed into the turbulent river.—Columbian.

An Explanation.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in times past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Biliousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Liver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous. *

HUNTING WILD HORSES.

GEN. BRISBIN TELLS OF A PECULIAR WESTERN PASTIME.

An Old Ranchman's Story—The Singular Habits of Wild Horses—An Unbearable Nuisance to Stock Growers—The Business of "Wolfing"—Bounties.

An immense black stallion lay dying on the hillside. His eyes were fast glazing over with a film of death, as his blood slowly ebbed away from a bullet hole in his lungs.

"There," said the old ranchman as he stooped over the dying horse, "I guess you won't steal any more of my mares, you old rascal, you," and he contemptuously kicked the carcass. The ranchman was old Steine, a well known horse raiser in the Big Horn mountains.

"What did you kill him for?" I asked.

"What did I kill him for?" said old Steine in astonishment. "For stealing my mares, of course. You didn't suppose I killed him for fun, did ye?"

"I didn't know," I replied modestly, "but it seems a pity to kill so fine a beast."

"Guess your experience at horse raising, then, is rather limited, stranger," said old Steine, "but as you ask me a civil question and seem to be an honest sort of a chap, I'll tell you all about it."

"Didn't you never hear of wild horses?" he asked, suddenly. "Well," continued Steine, "that's one of them lying there, and I reckon he was the biggest thief in the whole lot. You see they run in gangs of fifty to a hundred, and the stallions steal our mares and drive them off into the wild bands, and that's the last we ever see of them, unless it is with a spyglass. They just go plum wild and seem worse nor the real wild mares."

I then learned from the old ranchman some curious facts about the wild horses of the plains. Every effort to destroy them has proved futile, and the aid of the territorial government is now to be asked to eradicate their bands. They have increased so wonderfully within the past few years that they have become an unbearable nuisance to the stock growers of the plains. They graze in bands of twenty, fifty and even one hundred, and are very difficult to approach. An old stallion generally occupies some elevation and he will trumpet an alarm to the herd if he sees any one coming. In times of danger from wild beasts the stallions form a circle and the mares and colts are put inside. The colts are often attacked by wolves or Rocky mountain lions, but they never succeed in killing a colt without a battle with the horses, and often the wolves and lions are kicked and beaten so badly that they have to beat a retreat without securing their prey.

The stallions are regular Mormons and get all the mares they can. They cross and recross the country looking for mares and even proselyting for horses to enter their band. If cow ponies stray too far from the cattle or camp the first thing they know they are rounded up by an old stallion and driven off into the hills. Often a wild herd will discover a tame band of horses grazing quietly in the valley, with no intention of leaving their range, but the band of wild horses, led on by their stallions, dash down into the valley, capture them and carry them away. The wild stallions are shot without mercy by the ranchmen. If one is seen grazing on a hill he is sneaked up upon and dropped in his tracks. They are very alert and difficult to approach, but like the tame horses are easily killed. A bullet in almost any part of the body will cause the horse to drop on the plain.

The Indians are the best wild horse hunters, but they do not like to be out in stormy weather and they cannot stand the cold of winter as well as white men. In a storm is the best time to hunt wild horses, for they bunch and cannot see any one approaching until it is too late to get out of the way of the bullets. It is generally useless for a hunter to attempt to run down a wild horse with a tame one. The tame horse, weighted down by the burden of the hunter's body, soon tires and the wild horse easily escapes. Sometimes the hunters discover the tracks of wild horses near a stream and they then hunt for their watering place. The band always waters at the same place, and although right on the stream, the horses will go up or down it for a mile or more in order to drink at their accustomed watering place. Hiding in a bush or crawling to a bluff the hunter lies in wait until the horses come to the water, and then shoots them. It is difficult to catch them, as they seem to know instinctively when hunters are about, and if they even suspect danger they will at once leave the locality. A smoke or anything unusual will stampede them, and they will run forty or fifty miles before letting up. Their sense of smell is very acute, and on the wind side about a mile is as close as a hunter can get before being discovered by his odor, and the horses are off in a jiffy.

The winter is the best season for wild horse hunting in Wyoming. The animals get discouraged by the deep snows and become hungry and poor. They are apt at such times to bunch in the cottonwood groves, where they eat the bark off the trees and chew up all the small limbs they can reach. In winter, too, the horse hunters can unite with it the business of "wolfing." Perhaps some people do not know what "wolfing" is. Well, a "wolfer" is simply a wolf hunter, or a man who kills wolves for their hides and the reward offered for their destruction.

A wolfer goes out into the section of country where the wolves are thickest and builds him a cabin. He will then kill one or two antelopes, skin them and drag the bloody carcass in pieces all about the country. The meat is then poisoned with strychnine and left near his cabin. The wolves get on the bloody trails and follow them up until they come to the meat, of which they eat heartily, and of course that is the last of them. The wolfer has his baits in all parts of the country, and goes from one place to another "skinning up."

The wild horse hunters are always wolfers, and when they do not find plenty of wild horses they always find plenty of wolves, and make a good thing out of the bounty and pelts. I have a boy out with a party of wolfers now, and he says the three of them frequently kill twenty and and twenty-five wolves per day, worth for their hides and scalps at least $75. That's pretty good wages for three men, or rather two men and a boy, to make.

When the wolfer hunts wolves and horses together he takes two swift ponies, one of which he rides and the other he leads, packed with his bedding, grub and traps. He goes over vast tracts of territory, and it is only by hard riding and terrible exposure he can hope to come up to the wild horses. When once upon them he does not attempt to catch them, but kills them, a wild stallion's scalp being worth $25 among the stockmen of the region where he ranges.—Gen. James S. Brisbin in New York World.

"It is a great public benefit."—These significant words were used in relation to Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil by a gentleman who had thoroughly tested its merits in his own case—having been cured by it of lameness of the knee of three or four years' standing. It never fails to remove soreness as well as lameness. *

The Rock on which many a constitution goes to pieces is Dyspepsia. The loss of vigor which this disease involves, the maladies which accompany it, or which are aggravated by it, the mental despondency which it entails, are terribly exhaustive of vital stamina. Its true specific is Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, which likewise overcomes bilious maladies, female ailments, and those coupled with impurity of the blood.

Sailing Vessels Supplanted.

See going men say that times are very dull on the Pacific coast for sailing vessels. There is nothing for many of them to do and the number tied up in San Francisco is unusually large. The C. P. R. line of steamships has taken the carrying trade away from them so far as China and Japan are concerned and there is nothing to take its place.

Always Ahead.

Eleven cases of new goods, comprising men's, youth's, and boys' suits. Soft and stiff felt hats, etc., have just been received at the Golden Rule Clothing Store, Yates Street. 1-n

The steamer Maude carried to Comox last Thursday a complete outfit for a saw mill with the exception of a mill pond and timber limit. The machinery made the largest cargo which has ever been laid down in Comox.

Blue Ribbon Rally.

The Blue Ribbon Club will reopen this evening. Rev. J. E. Starr will deliver a lecture on Gospel Temperance, a subject which is imperfectly understood by many in this city. The platform will be occupied by the officers recently elected.

C Battery's Report

Ottawa Free Press: It is thought at the Militia Department that C Battery will return from the Skeena river before long. The military regulations require that in a case where the military have been called out by the civil authorities, the commanding officer of the former is to withdraw his force on being notified by the latter. The officer then has to make a full report to the deputy adjutant general of the district, who in his turn transmits it to the adjutant general. In the present instance Col. Holmes, who commands C Battery is D. A. G. as well and will make the report himself.

"Wooden-Headed."

When a wooden pavement was desired outside St. Paul's Cathedral, Sydney Smith said: "If the canons will simply 'put their heads together,' the thing is done!" They were not half so wooden-headed, however, as it would be to deny the merit of Dr. R. V. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has cured many thousands of liver disease, impure blood, kings' evil, salt-rheum, dropsy, chronic affections of the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs, asthma, catarrh, influenza, neuralgia, dyspepsia, constipation, and all skin diseases. Druggists.

When everything else fails, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures. wed-sat

Excursion from Victoria.

On Sunday morning, August 26th, the steamer Olympian will leave Turner, Beeton & Co.'s wharf on an excursion to Port Townsend, Port Angeles, and Crescent Bay. She will leave at 8:30 a. m. and return about 7 in the evening making one of the most delightful trips that it is possible to imagine. Some little time will be spent at both Port Townsend and Port Angeles to enable excursionists to go on shore and see the sights around town. The Alaskan which leaves Tacoma and Seattle with the press excursion will be met at Port Townsend.

New Treatment.

A new method of treating pulmonary consumption is described by the Medical Record from French sources. Their new system of curing consumption is based upon sulphuric acid in medicated inhalations. Sulphur is slightly moistened with alcohol burned in a brazier, a little benzine or powdered opium being sometimes added to make the fumes less disagreeable. The patient is required to stand twice a day in this sulphurous chamber and inhale the medicated atmosphere until his lungs are saturated with sulphuric acid. The treatment is said to be markedly successful in as many as thirty cases, sweats and fever disappearing, the lungs clearing up and the appetite and weight steadily improving.

Excursion on Saturday.

We would remind our readers of the picnic to Koksilah on Saturday next under the auspices of the Young People's Association of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The place chosen is of great beauty on the banks of the Koksilah river and a happy day is assured, as the committee has a varied programme of sports prepared and a band has been engaged. The price of the return tickets is only one dollar for adults and fifty cents for children between five and 12 years. Don't miss such a treat, but take the children out for a right royal holiday. You will not regret it. Trains leave at 8:20 a. m., 1:20 p. m. and 3:30 p. m. It is very desirable that those going should procure tickets early so that ample arrangements can be made for accommodation and refreshments.

Marine Notes.

British steamer Zambesi from Vancouver, arrived at Hong Kong 15th August.

Steamer Hassalo was found to be on fire last Sunday morning on her way from Seattle to Tacoma. She had 100 passengers and a scene of indescribable confusion ensued. The crew succeeded in suppressing the flames before much damage was done.

Further particulars are to hand concerning the the wrecked bark Cassandra Adams. Capt. Knacks succeeded Capt. Cutter in command of the Adams in San Francisco on the last trip. The vessel was out ten days from San Francisco and bound to Tacoma to load lumber. She had new boilers aboard for the tug Tacoma. The bark was built by Hiram Doncaster for W. J. Adams & Co., at Seabeck, twelve years ago, and cost $70,000. After several years' engagement in the lumber coastwise trade, she was bought by John Rosenfeld here. She distinguished herself by making four or five voyages between San Francisco and New York in less than 100 days. The Tacoma Mill Company last December purchased her for $23,000, and since engaged her in the California and Puget Sound lumber trade. She was a splendidly equipped, seaworthy vessel. Her dimensions were as follows: 190 feet long, 40 feet beam, 22 feet depth of hold, and 1083 tons. She was fully insured in San Francisco companies.

Mr. T. C. Wells, Chemist and Druggist, Port Colborne, Ont., writes: "Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure sells well, and gives the best of satisfaction for all diseases of the blood." It never fails to root out all diseases from the system, cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, etc., purifies the blood, and will make you look the picture of health and happiness.

CASE CONCLUDED.

Mr. Justice Gray Reserves His Decision—Argument of Counsel.

Miss Jessie Fowler was sworn and examined by Mr. Walls for the defence. She gave evidence as follows: Am daughter of Mrs. Fowler, who is at present in California, and was matron of the Chinese Girl's Home about a year ago; left the Home in January last. There were six girls in the Home and three came in afterwards. Mrs. Hopkins had charge before witness' mother. Ah Lin was one of the first girls to come to the Home. When witness' mother left the Home Ah Lin was there. Did not see Ah Lin till she came to witness' mother's house early in February last. The weather was very severe at the time. Lived on Fiegard St. between Quadra and Blanchard. Ah Hoi was with Ah Lin; they did not come to our house by invitation; it was about 9 o'clock in the evening; they told us they had been turned out by Miss Leake, who whipped them and that they had no supper. They were both very poorly clad for the inclement weather. Mother asked them to stay. They said they did not come for a visit but for protection from the ill treatment of Miss Leake. Mother was very kind to them; that was the reason they came to her. Mr. Gardner I suppose, was manager of the Home at the time. He never came to look after them. We kept them for four days from Friday evening till the following Monday.

The Counsel for prosecution objected to hearsay evidence.

The Court—It was the duty of Mr. Gardner to look after these girls, especially girls of that age. It did not matter about telling Gardner.

Counsel for prosecution said he only wanted to defend Mr. Gardner from unwarantable attacks.

Court to witness—Confine yourself to facts that you know.

Examination continued—Know Mr. Menzies, the prisoner; he started the home. Ah Lin and Ah Hoi went to him Monday morning; did not come back. Know Mr. Gardner was manager then for he told mother and witness so. He paid all bills. On Monday the girls were sent by mother to the Home; they returned in an hour; they said that they had been to the Home and did not find Mr. Gardner there. Mother told them to go back to the Home. We gave them some pipes and tobacco belonging to some of the girls in the house; asked them to take them back. Shortly after mother saw them in the street, they said they had been whipped and turned out by Miss Leake.

The court said that this witness' evidence could have no particular bearing on the case. These statements reflect on other people.

Mr. Wall—It is to show that the evidence of Ah Lin is not to be credited, being contradictory.

The Court—That may be, but this has nothing to do with the charge against the prisoner. Suppose this girl was turned away it would not justify the prisoner receiving money for procuring her for immoral purposes and inducing her to cohibit with a man. The idea is to discredit the veracity of Ah Lin. According to our law she is under age, and could not be married without consent of guardian. Even then such would not be void. After some arguments, pro and con, the court said it was the business of the prosecution to bring the charge of false pretenses and prosecution for immoral purposes. Ah Chee and Ah Lin were led to believe by prisoner that they were married. The defense took the position that what was done by Menzies was only regarding the marriage.

Mr. Drake—Yes, he had nothing to do with the cohabitation.

After some argument the examination of the witness was proceeded with by Mr. Walls, by which it was elicited that the girls were finally disposed of by being hired out from Mrs. Hopkins, Ah Hoi to Mr. Campbell and Ah Lin to Mr. Cohen, and that Menzies never paid Mrs. Fowler anything for keeping the girls.

Mr. Irving cross-examined the witness.

Mr. Cohen's evidence was not material.

Ah Chee was recalled and re-examined for the defence, when he said that Ah Lin was always very willing to marry witness and had often said so. Menzies was very good to Ah Lin and paid the $150 for board and clothes given her. Gets plenty of white men's food round town to take home; took the beefsteaks, puddings and pies to the gaol for prisoner.

This closed the evidence for the defence, when Mr. Drake, Q. C., addressed the Court on behalf of the prisoner.

Mr. Irving summed up for the prosecution, and in a concise way reviewed the evidence brought forward for the defence.

The court intimated that the charge being of a very serious nature and as he was acting both the part of judge and jury he would have to well consider his decision, which would be given at 11 o'clock on Friday next.

The prisoner intimated through his counsel that he wished to make a statement. After argument it was decided not to hear it at the present stage of the proceedings.

PROVINCIAL POLICE COURT.

The marriage of Frederick T. Berryman and Miss Maria Shakespeare will take place at the Pandora Street Methodist Church this evening. The contracting parties are well known in this city; the bride is only daughter of Postmaster Shakespeare. The TIMES extends congratulations in advance.

The marriage of Mr. Albert Brown and Miss M. Modland takes place at Victoria West this evening. Mr. Brown is a conductor on the C. P. R. in the northwest territory.

A young gentleman who manipulates the lightning on the other end of the E & N. R. wire will arrive in Victoria next Sunday afternoon to be spliced to a charming young widow.

Gorge Church Social.

The entertainment given in the Gorge Road church last evening passed off very pleasantly. A good programme of vocal and instrumental solos, addresses, &c, was rendered at the conclusion of which refreshments provided by the ladies were served and a general conversation and handshaking was in order. Following was the programme rendered: Address, by the Chairman; piano solo, Prof. Sharpe; vocal solo, Miss Humber; instrumental duet, Misses Cusack; instrumental solo, Prof. Agius; address, Mr. Teague; instrumental solo, Miss Berridge; song, Prof. Sharpe.

Try "Gold Block" smoking Tobacco.

Salsbury's Troubadours.

Mr. F. C. Rust, business manager of this company, is in the city, and has made arrangements for an appearance here at an early date. The San Francisco Chronicle says of the entertainment: "It is simply a stream of clever, bright, witty and amusing, very amusing, things. Nellie McHenry is a long way the best eccentric soubrette on the stage. She can sing even better than she used to, she can act anything from straight business to burlesque, she dances with a comic art that is rare. She does a great deal of work, clean, vivacious, enlivening work, without a single dull or stupid movement in her whole performance. Her singing, which includes operatic burlesque, little bits of sentiment and amusing character songs, are exceptionally cleverly written and full of new and amusing points. Frank Blair has developed into a genuine comedian of unctuous humor and decided burlesque talent. Mr. Webster is still the refined and neat comedy actor that he always was. Haney is an admirable Irishman, and the comedy parts are filled in very well. Dickie Martinez is a lady apparently of refinement and education, with a great deal of personal attraction, and she acts naturally and sings fairly; the same may be said of Miss Herbert. "The Humming Bird" gives more genuine amusement than anything we have had lately, not even excepting Hoyt's plays.

CRICKET.

The Irish Gentlemen cricketers played their first match in Canada yesterday, in Kingston, against a picked fifteen. The Kingston and Napanee home team went first to the bat and scored 141. The Irishmen followed with 96 for five wickets.

HANLAN WILL TRY AGAIN.

Edward Hanlan is not content to abide by the result of his late race with Peter Kempi for the sculling championship of the world. Advices from the antipodes are to the effect that another match has been made between them, resulting from a challenge issued by the Canadian, which is to be decided over the Paramatta course on Friday, September 28th. In addition to the title each side stakes $2,500, and the course will be the regular championship stretch of three miles and 330 yards, straightaway. To seek to reverse the former verdict in a manly, honorable struggle on the water is more creditable to the ex champion than offering excuses for his former defeat, which always come with bad grace from a loser in a square, up and up contest, and the well wishes of all his Canadian friends will go with him in this attempt to snatch the laurel wreath from the brow of the latest addition to the list of crack Australian knights of the oar. Should he be defeated for the second time we suppose he will rest satisfied that in Kemp he has met more than his match at his own game, and will give up trying to recover the title which he so long gallantly held. We hope, however, that a different result may be reached when the rival colonists again measure blades.

As foreshadowed in a previous note, the Blue Ribbon Temperance Club will resume public work at Temperance Hall, Pandora Avenue, on WEDNESDAY NEXT, 22nd August, on which occasion REV. J. E. STARR has consented to deliver an Address—Subject: 'Gospel Temperance.' As this is a topic imperfectly understood by many, all temperance people are urged to be present. Temperance to the Temperance reform movement gladly received during the evening. Entrance free; collection in most expensive. Unhappily funds are low. Chair to be taken at 8 p. m., punctually.
